

If you like

Dan Brown's Da Vinci Code

try reading...

The Rule of Four

by Ian Caldwell & Dustin Thomason

Four Princeton students struggle to solve the puzzle of a mysterious 15th-century manuscript, the Hyperotomachia Poliphili (a real book), amidst murder, romance, self-discovery, and intellectual suspense. (FIC CAL)

The Genesis Code

by John Case

Joe Lassiter's sister and nephew are among the victims of a series of murders of mothers and their young sons, all patients at an Italian fertility clinic. Find out why a dangerous religious order might be involved in this thriller that mixes science and faith. (FIC CAS)

A Finer End

by Deborah Crombie

Scotland Yard Detective Duncan Kincaid's nephew has discovered a thousand-year-old secret from the mythical burial place of King Arthur and Guinevere. And there are a couple of murders to solve as well! (FIC CRO)

The Sixteen Pleasures

by Robert Hellenga

An expert book conservator discovers a volume of sixteen erotic drawings by Giulio Romano accompanying sixteen steamy sonnets by Pietro Aretino in a convent. Published four centuries earlier, the Vatican had destroyed all copies, yet somehow this one volume survived. (FIC HEL)

The Devil's Advocate

by Morris West

A dying English priest is sent from Rome to investigate a sainthood cult that has grown around Giacomo Nerone in southern Italy. Try four other great West titles in our collection. (FIC WES)

The Eight

by Katherine Neville

A young 1790s French woman and a 1970s computer whiz find themselves chasing across several countries for the rare, hidden pieces to a chess set which once belonged to Charlemagne. The set holds the code to an ancient secret which brings great power. (FIC NEV)

The English Assassin

Daniel Silva

When art restorer and Israeli secret agent Gabriel Allon is sent to recover a Raphael, he finds the Swiss owner dead and Allon is the primary suspect. The background to the novel is Switzerland's links to the Nazis. Seven more in series — The Kill Artist is the first. (FIC SIL)

You might also try...

The Templar Legacy

by Steve Berry

(FIC BER) — or any of his other titles

Clive Cussler

(FIC CUS) — thrillers with action, historical bent

Nelson DeMille

(FIC DEM) — many action-packed plots

The Name of the Rose* or

Foucault's Pendulum

by Umberto Eco

(FIC ECO)

The Geographer's Library

by Jon Fasman

(FIC FAS) — historical mystery

The Secret Life of Bees

by Sue Monk Kidd

(FIC KID) — the feminine divine aspect

The Icarus Agenda

by Robert Ludlum

(FIC LUD) — a conspiracy-related thriller

The Dante Club

By Matthew Pearl

(FIC PEA) — historical mystery

An Instance of the Fingerpost* or

The Dream of Scipio

Iain Pears (FIC PEA)

Arturo Perez-Reverte

(FIC PEA) — adventure, art, history, mystery